PUBLIC NOTICE

NO DOWN SIZING THE TEACHING FACULTY DUE TO REVISION OF FACULTY STUDENT RATIO

AICTE has recently revised the Faculty Student Ratio from 1:15 to 1:20 in the interest of students as well as the institutions. AICTE has already issued to all the AICTE approved institutions that "downsizing the teaching faculty due to revision of Faculty Student Ratio norms will not be accepted in any case" by AICTE. The ratio can only be adjusted on superannuation of faculty or resignation on their own.

It is hereby notified that all institutes shall not make any downsizing of faculty till superannuation of faculty or resignation on their own on account of revision of Faculty Student Ratio.

The State Government and Universities may ensure that downsizing of faculty due to revised Faculty Student Ratio should not be done by any AICTE approved institutions.

UNIVERSITY OF PUNE

Faculty of Management

Syllabus for Bachelor of Science - Hospitality Studies (BSc-HS)
w.e.f Academic Year 2008/2009

BScHS - First Year

BScHS - Second Year

BScHS -Third Year

I. Introduction:

The basic idea is to revise the curriculum of the Three years Degree Course in Hospitality Studies (BScHS) with a view to keep abreast with the current changing trends in the hospitality industry.

II. Objectives and Framework of the curriculum of BScHS programme

1. The basic objective of the BScHS programme is to provide to the country a steady stream of competent young men and women with the necessary knowledge, skills, values and attitudes to occupy positions of management and administration in the Hospitality Industry.
2. The course structure of the given BScHS programme is designed keeping in view the basic objective stated above. Consequently certain essential features of such model programme structures would be
 - a. To impart to the students latest and relevant knowledge from the field of management theory and practice.
 - b. Providing opportunities to the participants, within and outside the institutions, for developing necessary operating skills and
 - c. Imparting / developing the right kind of attitudes to function effectively in operational, managerial / administrative positions.
3. Certain other essential considerations:
 - a. The knowledge inputs and opportunities for skill development have been offered in an evenly distributed and logically sequenced manner.
 - b. The design is simple and logical.
4. Imparting / developing suitable attitudes understandably is a very difficult and delicate task, and is to be done by the faculty as inconspicuously as possible.
5. The relative importance of skills development and attitudinal orientation in management education suggests that the Institution offering the program should have some freedom on course development in choosing methods of instruction, and internal assessment within a broad framework of objectives and curriculum structure.

6. A minimum weightage of 30 percent is given to internal continuous and sessional assessment, consisting of tasks like classroom exercises, tests, seminars, presentations, quizzes, group tasks, term papers etc, The external semester-end University examination has a maximum weightage of 70 percent.
7. The full time three-year programme in hospitality studies has 6 semesters, and a semester will have a total of 16 contact weeks.

III. The Curriculum:

1. The curriculum is presented in the accompanying chart along with the appendices containing a list of subjects and outlines of required courses.
2. Care and attention has been given to the basic objective of the curriculum and its academic rigour, without favouring strict straight- jacketing of management curriculum which would shut out the much needed experimentation and innovation in the field of hospitality studies.
 - a. The curriculum includes a total of 32 courses.
 - b. Of the 32 courses, course No. 101, 102, 103, 104, 201, 202, 203, 301, 302, 303, 501, 502, 503, 601, 602 and 603 are practical courses.
 - c. There is a provision for Project Report and Industrial Training in the fourth semester, which together carry a mark value of 400 marks for Industrial Training and Project Report.
 - d. Semester work load is balanced with six full courses of 100 marks each per semester, 36 hours per week for lectures, practicals and tutorials except for fourth semester of Industrial Training.
3. Ordinarily in each class, not more than 60 students will be admitted.
4. Appendix I: Outline of the structure of BSc-HS course.
Appendix II: Detailed syllabus, Semester-wise / Course-wise.

IV Eligibility for admission:

The minimum eligibility for this course would be HSC (12th Std) or its equivalent, passing with a minimum of 45% marks in the aggregate (40% in case of candidates of backward class categories belonging to Maharashtra State).

V Number of Lectures:

There shall be at least 36 hours per week, which include lectures/ practicals/tutorials/ Seminars/ Assignments for the internal assessment work. The duration of the lecture/practical period shall be of 60 minutes each.

VI Vacation Training

It is recommended that each student shall undergo a vacation training for a period of not less than 30 days during vacation at the end of the Second Semester.

VII Industrial Training

- a. In the Fourth Semester the students shall be sent for industrial training for a period of 20 weeks, where they would work desirably for a period of 8 weeks in Food Production, 6 weeks in Food and Beverage Service, 3 weeks in Front office and 3 weeks in House-keeping- in Government Classified Hotels of the level of three star and above category.
- b. The student shall maintain a logbook on daily basis.
- c. At the end of the industrial training the student shall submit a training report along with the logbook maintained on daily basis during the period of training and the performance appraisal from each department.
- d. The training report is to be prepared by the student in two typed copies and to be submitted to the Principal within the stipulated time for assessment.
