Best Practice-II

'Together We Can Make a Difference'

Best Practice-II

Title of the Practice:

‘Together We Can Make a Difference’ - Initiating societal and nation building awareness

Objectives of the Practice:

All educational institutes have the responsibility of imparting quality education as well as bestowed with additional responsibility of nurturing and developing good human values among the students. These are the future pillars and assets of the nation. Thus it is fundamentally necessary to develop citizens of high morals, proper attitude and sacrificial attitude to have a good blend in the society so that a strong nation is built. The objectives of the practice are:

- To develop a responsible citizen who understands the need of nation building and thus contributes towards its progress.
- To inculcate such values that will be supportive for social and national causes.
- To instill permanently good values that can be practiced in the times of need.

The Context

India is diverse country with regards to regions, languages, practices and resources. It is categorized as a developing nation. In the development process it is confronted with major hurdles or challenges. These includes:

- Increasing pollution
- Depletion of natural resources
- Natural calamities
- Eradication of poverty
- Enhancing quality of human life
- Developing of modern facilities and infrastructure

The government on its part is continuously making efforts to overcome the hurdles and move ahead. However it requires the sincere and active support of all citizens and voluntary organizations. Educational institutes also have a major role of developing a sense of responsibility among the students through conduct of activities which are easy to practice, less time consuming, cost effective and easy to implement. Such considerations have been helpful in the implementation of activities for the benevolence of the society.

The Practice:

The institute focuses to enlighten the students about the importance of developing a positive attitude towards societal needs, its improvement and building a strong civilized nation. For this purpose the institute plans and executes a number of co and extra activities. Some of these are discussed below:

Blood Donation:

Blood is the only material which cannot be substituted or produced. It is mainly required in medical emergencies, for saving precious human life. A supply of this is only possible through donation of blood by healthy individuals. The institute carries out regular blood donation activity since a number of years. This activity is planned in association with a government approved blood bank. The blood bank works in a systematic and scientific manner. It has the facilities to carry out separation of blood into three different components. Thus from one donor three recipients can be benefited. This noble activity thus helps to create social awareness among students. A big number of students participate in this activity.

Tree Plantation:

Uncontrolled cutting of trees has caused deforestation. This had lead to number of ecological problem, like oxygen depletion, soil erosion, and loss of biodiversity. The government is carrying out forestation work on large scale. This is supplemented by non government organizations and individuals. The institute has given top priority for this activity also. Tree plantation is carried out at sites made available by the government department or on land belonging to trusts. All the students whole heartedly participate in this activity. This activity is also helpful for nation building.

Voluntary Donation:

Students in the institute are happy to make voluntary donation either in the form of cash or kind. Such resources are gifted to the needy, which include orphanage and other social centers in the cities. A large number of hamper kit containing daily required essentials are packed and donated as gifts. Prepared sweets or raw food ingredients are donated to the needy. Cash contribution from students are also collected and been forwarded to the Armed Forces Welfare Board and the Salvation Army. Such practices help to inculcate the value of sensitivity and generosity to the needy section of the society.

Evidence of Success

All discussed activities are routinely practiced and effectively implemented. The evidence of success of each activity is mentioned below:

Blood Donation camp:

Most of participant in this activity are first time donors. Hence there is a fear in the minds of such students. With the help of proper counseling the fear is removed. As a result the students donate and thus become regular blood donors in the later part of their study as well in future. They also motivate the new comers to participate. The data received from the blood bank indicates that the percentage of blood donors is high in relation to the number of students in the institute. From this activity the students get valuable personal information like blood group, body weight, hemoglobin percentage. The blood donors also receive a card which is useful during emergency to receive blood.

Tree plantation:

This work has been carried out in an enthusiastic manner with increasing number of saplings planted every passing year. The success story can be visualized by plantations in and around the premises. They have survived and grown up into tall vegetation. This has also helped to improve the aesthetic nature of the surrounding.

Voluntary Donation:

All students readily come forward and make generous donations. The donations made are highly appreciated and acknowledged by the recipient organization. The student are thus motivated us to carry out such activity as and when required.

Problems Encountered:

Different types of difficulties are faced in the conduct of each activity. Some of the problems faced are mentioned below,

Blood Donation:

Since the students are first time donor a fear is there in their mind. This fear is removed by a qualified medical doctor and the public relation officer of the blood bank before the donation camp. Many a times student students are eager to donate blood but low hemoglobin count, underweight or other medical problems are deterrent. A low hypoglycemic state of the student may cause adverse problem, this is avoided by providing breakfast before the start of the camp.

Tree Plantation:

The problem encountered in this activity is the limitation of vacant land in the campus for this plantation. Thus activity had to be carried out at places around the city (about 10-15 km away). The government and trust have to be requested to allow such activity. Proper and safe travel arrangement has to be arranged for transportation of students.

Donation :

To donate means to give something — money, goods, or time — to some cause, such as a charity. The word has a more altruistic meaning than does simply "giving"; it suggests that you don't expect anything in return for the contribution.

Importance of Donation :

1. Charity Wakes Up Realization:

Sometimes we make ourselves just a mediocre Office, home and nothing else. Many regular mediocre people who happen to be our donors said that after making the donation they felt a little realization that they are something more than just a mediocre. That's a definite reason and we are quite satisfied.

2. Charity Helps Beat Stress:

Do you know how many people in India suffer from stress? Take a rough guess, 50%? No little higher... 60% of people? No even higher. Well, it's 89% of the total population suffering from stress, a study revealed. That includes many of our donors too and they said since they started making charity, life is less stressful for them.

3. Charity Improves Human Relations:

Not all but some of our donors have actually improved their relations with a lot of people around them i.e., Family, friends, colleagues, etc. Actually, when you make a charity, the important fact is you connect it with a purpose and a person who significantly impacts your life and you tend to feel for the people. Thus improves human relations.

4. Charity Spreads Positivity:

One can't deny a fact that charity indeed brings a wholesome of positivity in life that helps not only you but also the people around you to become a better person and make the world a better place.

There are many more benefits of donation and it is a need of hour. Discussion was carried out in class and student willingly taken initiative for donation. Each student from class, Director sir and other staff members also contributed for this charity.

Student suggested that now summer is going to start and there are many people on the road walking bare feet which very painful. So class and we decided to donate good quality foot wear to needy people. 23 pairs of foot wears are donated on this occasion.

We operate in Ahmednagar, a town and district in the agricultural region of Maharashtra, India, and provide services to over 15,000 beneficiaries annually.

We are more than an NGO, we are a strong and passionate family, united in the belief that no one should stand alone. Many of our staff first came to us as beneficiaries to use our services. Diwali Festival in India

Diwali, the festival of lights is indeed the most awaited and the most celebrated festivals of India. People in every nook and cranny of the country welcome the festival with enthusiastic gestures. This wonderful festival is the celebration of five days. On third day of the celebratory occasion the key rituals of the Diwali festival takes place. Lighting of Diyas and candles all around the house, worshipping the Laxmi Ganesha to summon health and wealth and bursting crackers are the chief rituals of the festival.

In addition to that, the exchange of heartfelt gifts during Diwali these days have become a mandatory part of the celebration. Friends, families and colleagues share with each other Diwali gifts as a gesture of showing love and affection. Also, special and grand feast with delicious food that mandatorily includes different varieties of sweets is the special attraction of the occasion.

Diwali Festival and Orphanage

With more and more people preferring to lace their Deepawali celebrations with social concerns, an Institute of Hotel Management and Catering Technology, Ahmednagar also decided to celebrate this Diwali with needy students in the society.

For this social cause we appeal to all members of Institute to donate voluntarily, and we have got very good response from students and staff members.

We would like to share our happiness with the children and have been doing it for a very long time now. Last year we gave them hygiene kits but this year we would be giving them hygiene kits consisting of essentials like soap, toothbrush, tooth paste, hair oil, Talc, etc. and with 2 cans of Sunflower oil (15 lit each) and 10 kg of Bengal gram to two different trust.

Not only does Balgruha believe in providing shelter to these kids, they also want these kids to be nourished and be around people they can call 'Family'.

Report on Diwali Donation to Snehalaya, Ahmednagar.

Date

Report Submitted by

Prof. PrachiChavan

Throughout history, money has been donated to the needy, as well as food, clothing, tools, bedding etc. These donations were often organized through the Church and it was considered the duty of the wealthier classes and merchants to give to the poor. These days, this generous attitude to giving to the needy is not so well defined. People don't know how to help or how to make sure their donation goes towards the cause and not just to charity operating expenses.

Charitable organizations exist to support and raise funds for a specific group of people. There are numerous charities that support a wide variety of causes such as children in various locations, sufferers of various diseases, homeless people and disadvantaged people at home and overseas. These organizations depend on the generosity of the general community to make donations to charity of money, goods and services, in order that they can carry out their work. Many charities are completely self-funded while others receive some government funding.

Why is it important that we donate to charity? Here are just 5 good reasons:

1. Help other people – there are millions of people in the world who are worse off than we are at any one time. Many of these folk have problems that are not their fault or are beyond their ability to prevent or change. Humans are a social animal and the best way for mankind to advance is by helping those who are unable to help themselves. We have a responsibility to care for other people, to help those less fortunate than ourselves. When we have some spare cash, time or goods, it is an opportunity to help out.

2. Make a difference – donating to charity is the perfect opportunity to make a difference in the world. By making a difference to someone's life, you are leaving behind a legacy. You are making a statement that your life was worthwhile because you made a contribution to society.
3. Feel good – medical and scientific research has proven beyond doubt that giving to other people makes you feel good. The feeling of satisfaction you get when you help someone else is hard to replicate with any other type of activity or endeavor. People who give feel happier, are less anxious and suffer less depression than those who don't. Better health is enjoyed by those who donate their time, expertise or money to others who are in need. Charitable people tend to be able to cope with their own problems more easily than those who don't donate. Giving to others improves your self-esteem, self-confidence and self-worth. This advantage flows into all areas of your life so you will find that you are more confident at work and in social situations.
4. Support a cause you believe in – different charities touch the heart of different people. If you are passionate about something or believe that a certain area is important, you will be able to support that cause by donating to charity. You might be passionate about every child having access to a good education; that nobody should live in poverty in the 21st century; that everyone should be able to experience music or art. Whatever you believe in or are passionate about, you will be able to further the cause through donations to charity.
5. Meet new people – donations to charity give you the opportunity to meet new people and expand your circle of acquaintances. This is especially true when you donate your time or expertise to a worthy cause. While most charitable organizations always need money, many could not operate without an army of volunteers. Whether you give up your time one day a week to serve meals, give a few hours a day to sit with the elderly or travel overseas to help build houses, you will certainly meet many like-minded people along the way. As well as being potential friends, who knows where these new relationships will take you and how these new people might be able to help you in the future?

So shed any doubts you have about why donations to charity are so important and offer your time or money to a cause you believe in. Many other people will benefit but you will also benefit in so many ways.

For this social cause a meeting of all students was conducted in which the importance of donation is explained to students. Then we have explained them that this time we have decided to donate self-fitness kit (tooth paste, tooth brush, hair oil, bath soap, washing soap etc. to the students from orphanage. You can get it packed from your home or you can contribute money as per your wish.

Around 17 gift packing and 2120 rupees were collected and material is purchased from market, gift packing is done by students in the college. Then we have invited Snehalaya team to collect gift from college.

Team of Snehalaya was very happy to see more than 50 gifts from very small college. They have distributed certificates to student for their help. All students were very happy because they have celebrated their Diwali by different way.

Information about Snehalaya –

Snehalaya means 'Home of Love', and was founded in 1989 to provide support for women, children and LGBT communities, who have been affected by HIV and AIDS, trafficking, sexual violence, and poverty. We operate in Ahmednagar, a town and district in the agricultural region of Maharashtra, India, and provide services to over 15,000 beneficiaries annually.

We are more than an NGO, we are a strong and passionate family, united in the belief that no one should stand alone. Many of our staff first came to us as beneficiaries to use our services. We understand that resilience - the desire to survive - is an extraordinary force. A sense of belonging and compassion can nurture even the most destitute and fragile people to not just survive, but to thrive in life. We welcome everyone with an open heart and without prejudice.

Vision of Snehalaya - To develop the awareness and capabilities of individuals who have been deprived of their fundamental rights as a result of the inequalities that exist in our society.

Mission of Snehalaya - To provide rescue, rights and rehabilitative services to the communities in most need. To offer a safe exit point to women and their children trapped in the crippling cycle of poverty and abuse.
